No Brag, No Power

The locomotive engineers have raised the salary of Mr. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood, from $14,500 to $25,000. A wise action. Railroads think nothing of paying a corporation lawyer $100,000 for a year's work. Workers should pay their leaders full value for good service. If the leader isn't worth a good salary, change him and get a man that is worth it. Workers are going to need good leaders in the next few years.

"William Rockefeller celebrates 80th birthday, spending ten hours at his desk. No. 24 Broadway."

That tells how some Americans work, will not, cannot, stop working. It also reminds men in old age that work really doesn't hurt them if they like it. What we like is digested easily.

What is unusual in William Rockefeller, a long day's work at eighty, should be nothing unusual in any healthy man. Eighty should be an age of full vitality. Death would not come before one hundred and forty-four, if men knew how to live.

Liberty Bonds suddenly drop because the Federal Reserve Bank, controlling credits, puts government bonds in second place as collateral for loans.

First place is given to income-tax-free securities issued by States and cities.

Do you know why those securities are preferred? It is because big men that control money invest in tax-exempt securities to dodge income tax. Then they arrange to borrow heavily on those securities, putting their tax-dodging hands ahead of the people's bonds.

Interest on their loans they deduct from income tax, and interest they get from those tax-exempt securities pays no income tax at all. That shows how foolish it is to be a little man in a republic that is managed so intelligently for big men.

Mademoiselle Lenglen, wonderful French woman who can jump into the air as high as a game cock, says she will beat the German, Australian and American champion, Mrs. Molla Burestedt, at tennis.

That's the right spirit. The reader that edits a crooked newspaper, and the human being that has no brag in him has little else to him.

The French have always announced victory calmly that they have the greatest people in the world, and very often they have gone out and proved it.

John Wansmaker, who has left thousands and ten far out of sight and is working harder than ever, made a good speech about "the right use of money."

The best use of money is to keep it usefully working, producing what other people need, employing men and women usefully at good wages. Charley is adding to that, but the best thing for money and men is hard, productive work, and Mr. Wansmaker knows it.

"Henry Ford has finished building his first five million car."

Who would have predicted such an achievement, a few years ago? Almost any industrial miracle is possible.

A man trying to give highest value for lowest price, instead of trying to get highest price for lowest value, has turned out more than two thousand million dollars' worth of merchandise and means, what is infinitely more important, that millions of Americans, especially farmers and small business men, have saved thousands of millions of dollars of needless waste. It means, most important, that millions of families have known, unlike the pleasure of travel, fresh air, stimulating, beneficial excitement. It is not possible to over-estimate the value of such service as Henry Ford has rendered. Industry, and especially, to the United States.

All the more dearly his friends regret that such a man should be misled by false rumors and cheaply-motivated lies into race persecution worthy of those that used to have much to do with the stone-throwing of differences in religious belief.

Mr. Bok will give $100,000 every year to the Philadelphia hotel who does most to advance the interests of his city, a good way to spend ten thousand dollars. Mr. Bok, retired from one thing, is promoting good music, and civic pride. What is the most useful thing a city or a body could do for a city? It would be to start a day before praise generously the occasional good man, and tear the skin of the others.

DOCTORS TELL SECRETS OF THE X-RAY
Dr. John D. Murphy, of the Rockefeller Institute, spoke today on the effect of the cellular reaction induced by X-rays on the site of cancer, grafts, before the opening session of the Radiological Society of North America, at the Copley Plaza.

The means of measuring the X-ray dose was described by Dr. N. E. Dorey of Washington, D. C., and the use of X-rays upon the incurable disease known as "Hodgkin disease," was described by Dr. Harry H. Bowling of Rochester, Minn.

DEPUTIES INVADGE LODGES AND BREAK UP MEETINGS TO GET SACCO CASE JURORS
Two hundred sleepy, angry and tired men, including an exceedingly irate bridegroom, whose honeymoon had been halted, gathered in the Dedham Court today when the trial of Nicolo Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, charged with the murder of a South Braintree postmaster and guard, was resumed.

The bridegroom, Norman Gardner, No. 143 Beach street, Wollaston, who was married yesterday to Mrs. Sara Elizabeth Gardner of No. 114 Beach street, was summoned at dawn today to appear for jury duty in the trial, just as he was about to leave the city on his honeymoon in the White Mountains.

The marriage of Foranetti, Italian consul-general in Boston, and Consul Silvio Vitali, were official witnesses for the Italian government at the trial.

10 Hero Squares for South Boston
Plans have been completed by the Michael J. Perkins Post of the American Legion, South Boston, for the dedication of ten squares next Sunday. A parade will be formed comprising veteran organizations of the district, who, under the direction of Chief Marshal Charles Martin, will dedicate the junction of Dorchester avenue and West Fourth street as James Walsh square; F and West Broadway, to John Joseph Moroney; junction of H and East Broadway, to William J. McKay; junction of K and Columbia road, as Charles O'Leary square; I and Columbia road, to Charles McCarthy; N and Columbia road, to Patrick J. Hennehan; Columbia road and Q street, as Kennedy square; P and Columbia road, to Thomas A. Austin, and the junction of Dorchester and Bolton streets, as O'Keefe square.

BIG NAVY BILL TO BE CUT

House Will Reject Senate Increase Except for Disarming and Airplanes

Washington, June 2.—The Senate increases in the naval appropriation bill will be rejected by the House, House leaders announced today. The bill was returned to the House carrying appropriations, totaling $19,000,000, or $10,000,000 more than the House provided for building and maintaining the navy during the next year. Only two Senate amendments will be accepted, Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, Republican leader of the House, predicts. They are the Bureau of Oceanography, which the House leaders wish to increase, and the amendment providing more money for naval airplanes.

5 Air Victims Had War Risk Insurance

Washington, June 2.—Of the seven persons killed in the airplane crash near Indian Head, Maryland, last Saturday, five carried war risk insurance of $10,000 each.

Colonel G. R. Forbes, director of the bureau, announced today that payments already have been approved and checks are under way. Sergeant Richard C. Higgenkrantz was the only aviation man who carried no insurance. Former Representative Maurice Connolly of Iowa, who was a major in the air service, had kept up his war risk insurance. The other civilians, A. G. Barchelder of Alton, N. Y., was ineligible to secure war risk insurance.

EXPLOSION ON BRITISH SHIP

Destroyer Badly Damaged in Mysterious Way at Dockyard in London

By International News Service, London, June 2.—The Haulbowline dock yard was closed up today for an indefinite period as the result of a mysterious explosion on board the British destroyer Trenchant last night. The destroyer was badly damaged but there were no casualties. All the workers at the dock yard were paid off and told not to report for duty till further orders. An investigation of the explosion is under way to determine if it is connected in any way with the recent activities of revolutionary agitators. CHAIN OF 'EXTORTION PLANTS' RUN BY MRS. KINGSTON

Names of Many Prominent Men Are Found in "Blue Book" Secret Calling List in Hands of Authorities

When the pages of the Kingston "Blue Book" were visitors at her Cambridge establishment rather than the Cambridge establishment, which she had previously conducted in Methuen, Mass., Woburn, whether any one of the men with the names in the list in the hands of the Attorney General, Allen and District Attorney Tuttle of Middlesex had known.

Methuen Mayor and the Cambridge house were only a small part of a chain of a considerable number of such resorts run at one time or other by Mrs. Kingston. It has been learned.

While conducting Methuen Manor, she admitted this spring that she had been in the Cambridge house for some time, where the most popular men were detained. Mrs. Kingston had ten entertainments in operation in Boston.

A rumor circulated today to the effect that Mrs. Kingston had not received her promised share of the $100,000 hand money, paid by the motion picture producers and that she was ready to turn informer in her anger, was denied by officials close to the investigation. They said Mrs. Kingston undoubtedly got a slice of the spoils, but no information could be obtained as to the amount allotted her.

The authorities are satisfied that the same reveals and methods were carried out by one of the various resorts conducted by Mrs. Kingston. The extent of the system would be to have acquainted officials working on the case, on the last of the night of March 6, 1917, when the prosecution by Attorney Henry

F. Mayhew of the long list of allegations made by Attorney General Allen against District Attorney Tuttle, will make public the guests at that all-night revel and the personnel of the patron to "Lily's" various resorts, to a matter of lively comment.

One thing is apparent is that many men are on the anxious seat in Boston and in New York. The trial of District Attorney Tuttle, on the charge of malfeasance, misfeasance and nonfeasance in office, is expected to "reach all the dirty lines in Boston's 'county,'" as one official alluded to it today.

The scandal in the Cambridge police department which has troubled that municipality for years will be resulted as will various phases of the case itself. It is predicted that the laundry of a valuable couple from the daughter of a banker who lived in Cambridge, Mass., will be one of the charges proved at the hearing.

This car was stolen at Nantucket. It turned up in a garage in Cambridge. It was never reported as a stolen car in that city, but was listed as a stolen car in Boston. A certain Cambridge police official had this car for his family use for more than six weeks. One of the attaches of the garage became suspicious of the car and its queer history. At the first opportunity he made a record of the engine number and reported it to a Cambridge police inspector, who discovered that the Boston police were searching for this car. The police official who had seen using it as a private car, when confronted with the facts, stated that he knew that it was stolen and who stole it, and that he was holding it for evidence.

The Braintree banker charged his official with investigating the theft of his daughter's car, and was quite indignant over the failure of the police official to list it as a stolen vehicle.

Several former officials whose names are known in almost every household in Boston, attended the "Nero Circle" at Methuen Manor, on the night of March 6, 1917. Whether the prosecution by Attorney Henry Mayhew will try to find out whether any bank or trust company had any record of the checks it is alleged were passed in the $100,000 extortion plot.

"I decline to answer," was his only reply when asked about these two points. Allen ridiculed a report in a newspaper that the Supreme Court looked power to remove Tuttle, even if found guilty.

Mrs. Kingston was careful to keep secret the location and nature of her numerous resorts in Boston, several of which were raided and at which she and the occupants were arrested at various times. She also conducted parties at Oakland Beach and Oak Bluffs.

Officials today ridiculed their efforts to locate Mrs. Kingston, who has been reported to be in Hingham, in Oklahoma and in sections in the apartment of a woman friend in Braintree.

An official stated that a letter had been recently received from her from Oklahoma, under circumstances that indicated that it had been enclosed by her in another envelope, from distant point and remained by a friend in Oklahoma, in order to cover her tracks.

These Woburn records will figure as exhibits at the hearing before the Supreme Court on the petition of Attorney General Allen for the removal of Nathan A. Tuttle as district attorney of Middlesex County, the order of notice on which is returnable next Monday.

There was some speculation today as to whether Attorney General Allen would seek to have District Attorney Tuttle suspended pending decision by the courts, so as to his guilt or innocence of the charges against him.

There was also a faint rumor that Allen had instructed the book company to try to find out whether any bank or trust company had any record of the checks it is alleged were passed in the $100,000 extortion plot.

ADVISES PUBLIC TO BUY COAL

Hultman Sees Little Chance of Any Material Reduction in Price This Year

Holding out no hope for any material reduction in the price of hard coal before late next winter or next spring, Hultman today advised the public to get their coal supply for this summer, in order to escape the price increases which will be inevitable when the cold weather arrives.

Hultman said it was the common opinion "among the large and reputable shippers who were not involved in the profiteering and speculation that prevailed last season," that the miners and exporters would continue the present wage scale in 1921 or early 1922.

"Coal is one of the principal sources of revenue to the railroad," he said, "and the financial condition of the carriers does not permit them to lower prices materially as they did last year."

"Unless something unforeseen occurs, there will probably be no material reduction in price before the late winter or early spring," he said.

Hultman says that coal production in America is still being hampered by the shortage of labor, which is a factor in the price of coal.

By buying in advance, he said, the consumer can avoid the inconvenience and higher cost which accompany the larger buying when the cold weather arrives.

Marceline E. Nichols, Boston fuel administrator, has invited Boston coal dealers to meet him at his office, No. 1 Beacon street, next Tuesday noon to discuss the fuel situation and to plan for next winter's coal supply.

AD FOR WOMEN OF INDIA URGED

Bombay School Head Makes Plea for Better Educated Womanhood

"The way to aid India is to educate her women."

This is the gist of an interview given by Miss N. D. Contractor, a graduate of the Bombay University, and superintendent of the Chandra Hanjee Girls' High school of Bombay, who is in Boston studying educational methods.

The Chandra Hanjee school is a private institution founded by the trustees of the Chandra Hanjee estate. More than 100 Indian girls of all classes are studying there, primarily in preparation for a university education.

SPECIAL TRAINING. Miss Contractor is taking a tour of the world studying educational methods of the various countries and with an eye to adapting them for use in the Chandra Hanjee school.

India is particularly enthusiastic over the methods in vogue in Japan, many of which she believes are adaptable to her own problems in Bombay.

Indian needs educated, cultivated womanhood, she explained. "The women of my country must have better educational opportunities."

NO COMPELSONARY SCHOOLS. "As present there are no free compulsory schools. Only 6 per cent of the people can read or write and only 2 per cent of our women can read or write."

"Indian women are keenly alive to the political rights and are showing their aspirations by the way in which they are taking part in the movement for national regeneration. If the American people are to help India, they should send part of the money they are donating to the cause of the Indian people to the best educational Indian women in education, business, medicine and kindred subjects."

UNCLE OF AUTHOR KILLED BY TRAIN

While crossing the tracks of the New Haven railroad near the Columbia road bridge, Dorchester, James O'Donnell, eighty years old, of No. 21 Pleasant street, Dorchester, died while being rushed to the City Hospital. He was an uncle of James B. Connolly, widely known as a writer of sex stories.

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

By FRIDA DAVIS.

While some producing companies are touting stories of hard times, telling how they're slowing up on work and how many actors have been laid off, the International Film Company can hardly keep up with its stars.

JUST OF IT. They have started up Gilda Grey, formerly known as Gilda Grey, formerly known as Gilda Grey, formerly known as Gilda Grey, to appear in a series of pictures. Miss Grey feels that there are coming her way with a vengeance these days. Her new stage production, "Showboats of 1920," opened in New York last night, she received word from her lawyer that she has inherited a fortune, and has signed the dotted line of a big film contract.

Martin Davies, also of International, has finished her picture, "Bride's Play," and has already started "Admission," scenes of her next feature, "The Young Diana," taken from a novel by Marie Corelli. Albert Capellani, who returned from France some weeks ago to directing Miss Davies. Perce Stanley will again play opposite her.

International has furthermore signed up two very important players as Pedro de Cordoba and Jaclynne Arhelle to appear in "The Young Diana."

Besides this the company has found time to finish the Associated Producers in a suit for damages. This concerns the picture called "The Broken Doll," based on a short story of that name written by Rudolph Heide under the pen name of "The Broken Doll."

This story was written in 1906 and Mr. Heide assigned all his rights to it to the Associated Producers that same year. Later the magazine disposed of its interest in the story to the International Film Company for $75,000. The film concern copyrighted it on May 17, 1921, as a photograph.

MARY MILLER WINTER'S TRIP. MARY MILLER WINTER'S TRIP abroad will be something in the nature of a triumphal affair. She will bring along messages of greeting from the Mayor of Los Angeles, his various officials, importance abroad, a messenger from California.

Note that she's finished work on her first picture for Paramount. "At the End of the World," Betty Compson gives up all her time to motoring around Southern California.

Among them will be the Lord Mayor of London, the Premier of France, and King Albert of Belgium. But besides these Miss Winter means to call on Jenny Paquin and Perce, as well as Gilda Grey, only said Hollywood. Miss Winter will sail on Saturday with her mother, Mrs. Shelby, and her sister, Margaret Shelby.

CECIL DE MILLE REVS. CECIL DE MILLE is editing the cutting and finishing of his super-spectacle, "The Affairs of Anatol," to his satisfaction and has begun taking important scenes for his new production, "The Affairs of Anatol."

Then the property he brought a mirror on the set. Mary promptly forsook work and stood gazing at her reflection in speechless admiration. She pressed herself and bowed for some time before she could be found and dragged prostrate back to work and to the set.

Again she got away but found that the mirror had been hidden. Nothing daunted she went on a hunt for it and finally located it in the property room. When Fitzmaurice found her again he issued an ultimatum: "When Mary is on the set," he declared, "she is to be kept in a cage outside the studio and after this well up, no more wista grees in pictures!"

CAMERA CLICKS. HOO BALLIN has re-titled his huge production with the working title, "Ave Maria," to "The Journey's End."

Mabel Ballin, who gave such a forceful performance in "East Lynne," will play the leading role. The story was written by a nun.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS' next film, "The Three Musketeers," will be shown as a regular $2 special entertainment, like "Way Down East" and the rest. United Artists will release it some time in August to be shown at the legitimate theaters.

JENNIFER COOPER'S next film, "The Leather Stocking Series," will be filmed. Adolphe Menjou and Edward L. Klein announce the completion of "Dear Mary" and "The Last of the Mohicans," both in seven reels.

M. and Lillian Gish is seriously ill at a New York hospital. She is suffering from heart trouble and has lately had a nervous breakdown.

FROTHINGHAM'S production, "The Black Fox," by E. Phillips Oppenheim, has been started in Hollywood. Ruby Keeler is the leading player and Edward G. Robinson is directing.

CATHERINE MAC DONALD has started work on "Fascia," her next production. At the Ambassador Pictures Corporation in Hollywood.

HOLLYWOOD will tell Lenora, Paris and Madrid in the story of Avery Hopwood, playwright and scenarist.

HURLED 50 FEET: ESCAPES UNHURT

Manhattan, N. Y., June 3.—William A. Maroney, of No. 348 Maple street, escaped without a scratch when his automobile was struck by a Concord, owned electric car in the outskirts of the city and hurled 50 feet into the ditch. Maroney back in his car onto the tracks in front of the car in attempt to turn about in the roadway. The machine was practically demolished.

SEAMEN'S BILL IS AMENDED

Washington, June 3.—Exception from provisions of the La Follette seamen's act for Great Lakes steamers making runs of six hours or less is provided in a bill favorably reported from the House Merchant Marine Committee. It provides that there may be two watches instead of three for the entire crew on runs of twelve hours or less; two watches for all except brown on runs from twelve to sixteen hours and over sixteen hours there must be three watches.

SOME PULL. Having a pull nowadays is great stuff, but these young English girls must have a particularly strong pull to get along—at least they did during the tug of war at Woburnbury Hill at the recent meet of the Lyons Athletic Club of England. The British girls have taken keenly to sport and are very clever athletes. Picture shows girls on the winning team. They look husky enough for football.

DESERTED BRIDE TOWNSWOMEN RUST

Through Son Denies Charge Husband Was "Rolled" of
Cash on Wedding Night

Wentfield, June 3.—From the hub in which she is confined as the result of her blighted romance with Charles H. Rust, of Weymouth, Mrs. Mrs. Mauda Henson Rust, whom he is alleged to have deserted on the night of his wedding to the recently wedded.

William Henson, son of Mrs. Rust, states that Rust's financial difficulties were not caused by his stay at the Rust home. He says that Rust is still wealthy at the home, but apparently does not want to stay, as left following the wedding.

GIRL CAUGHT WITH WHISKEY

Police Raid Uncle's Home in Cambridge and Find Moonshine Still

Rebecca Primmerman, a fourteen-year-old girl, was arrested today in the country less than four miles from the city, when she was found by police while walking through the streets with a heavy black bag containing thirteen half pint bottles of whiskey.

The girl could not speak English and was unable to give any information. She was taken to the police station and her uncle, Sam Primmerman, at No. 100 Western avenue, and a large still and about ten gallons of moonshine.

The police are inclined to believe that the girl was not aware of the brand on which she was dispatched.

Patrolman Tries to Hang Self in Station Cell

Patrolman John J. Morriarty of Station 3 is under observation today at the Psychopathic Hospital following alleged threats to kill his wife in their Somerville home, a maniacal struggle in police headquarters of that city where he had been taken, and a desperate attempt to hang himself in a cell.

Officers sent by Lieutenant Harmon of the Somerville police to investigate a report that a man had threatened to kill his wife with a revolver brought Morriarty in from No. 22 Quincy street.

He was released with a reprimand and a warning to keep out of trouble. Apparently rational he left under the supervision of Officer Donovan, who with Patrolman Downey, brought Morriarty to the station later by the rear entrance. Patrolman Downey, however, from the back of a cell, so tightly bound Morriarty that he could not pull a knife from his belt and his strength was necessary to snap the buckle.

Depositors Will Fight Any Move to Remove Funds
on Priority Ruling

Depositors of the Prudential Trust Company and other banks now closed will fight to the utmost any attempt to remove state funds on deposit in those institutions prior to a general settlement with all depositors on a priority basis.

According to Attorney Daniel T. O'Connell, the representatives of the depositors, the state has no priority over other depositors of such material amounts.

More than $100,000 of state money was on deposit in the Prudential Trust, which was closed by the liquidation of that bank when it was taken over by the state.

By International News Service.
London, June 3.—A terrible massacre of Christians, mostly Greeks, has taken place at Samarra and Telahend, in Turkey, according to an Exchange Telegram dispatch from Athens this afternoon.

An American destroyer has arrived at Samarra to protect Americans.

The streets of Samarra and Telahend were said to be strewn with Greek corpses and many shops were looted.

Both Samarra and Telahend are in Anatolia, on the Black Sea.
